Remote-based interpreting – the future?

You've got an important meeting scheduled. Should you organise interpreters for foreign-language participants? It's too expensive, some say. Too complicated, say others. And yet others think it's far too cumbersome. But it could be so easy!

You don't use simultaneous interpreting today because it will make your event too expensive.

You don't use simultaneous interpreting because setting up interpreting booths is too much hassle for small-scale meetings.

You don't use simultaneous interpreting because you haven't got the time and resources to organise it.

We offer: flexibility/event management, cost reductions of over 20% and CO_2 reductions of over 80%.

syntax.ch/interpreting

Remote-based interpreting – the future?

With remote-based interpreters, you receive their translation in real time on your personal smartphone or tablet.

Your events.

Symposia, seminars, conferences, general assemblies, town-hall and kick-off meetings, and all other kinds of gatherings (our interpreting services can also be booked by the hour)

You decide.

… how many participants
 need the service
… the event location
… the duration
… the combination of languages

We offer.

… the technology
… user support
… professional interpreters
… cost reductions of over 20%
 compared to the traditional rate
… reductions of over 80% in CO_2
 emissions
… live streaming of your events
 (e.g. town-hall meetings, etc.)

The application is extremely simple to use. Just download the app, enter the code, and listen in your mother tongue.